DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 3/8/2004 fails to comply with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97, 1.98 and MPEP § 609 because no date is supplied. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered as to the merits. Applicant is advised that the date of any re-submission of any item of information contained in this information disclosure statement or the submission of any missing element(s) will be the date of submission for purposes of determining compliance with the requirements based on the time of filing the statement, including all certification requirements for statements under 37 CFR 1.97(e). See MPEP § 609.05(a).

Further, Examiner requests a clearer copy of the reference as the features relevant to the instant examination are not clear from the copy supplied by Applicant.

Specification

Claim Objections

Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 10, line 9, should read "vane member are selectively".

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-19 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,840,384 in view of Ramonowski (US 2004/0144697 A1). Here, the patented claims teach all that is claimed except for expressly teaching protrusion means on the mounting means. Ramonowski, however, teaches protrusion means (Fig. 12, near 782) for a diverter gate assembly and, moreover, teaches that this type of connection allows for a precise fit and easy replacement of the gate assembly (para. 34, 35). Therefore, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention of the patented claims as taught above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6, 9-14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e) as being anticipated by Ramonowski (US 2004/0144697 A1).

Regarding claims 1-6, 9-13, Ramonowski (Fig. 12) teaches a gate device for diverting and directing articles in a sorting machine, the gate device comprising:

a bracket member (bracket 722 including two mounting ends with upright planar member connecting said mounting ends with dual tips near 782 of said mounting ends regarded as protrusions) mounted to the sorting machine;

a vane member (760) mounted to the bracket member, the vane member having at slot including at least one corresponding recessed area (opening 780 wherein initial throat is regarded as slot and dual substantially key shaped end that mates with protrusions is regarded as recesses of said slot) and removable from and mountable to the bracket member without removing the bracket member from the sorting machine; wherein the combined bracket member and the vane member are selectively movable via motion means (para. 25 teaching solenoid for moving gate) to direct the articles to a predetermined desired location (para. 2, 34, 35).

Regarding claims 14, Ramonowski teaches securement means (792) associated with the first end and the second end for releasably securing the vane member to the upright support member of the bracket member.

Regarding claim 16, the claimed method for replacing a diverter vane in a sorting machine is inherent in the operation of the device cited above.

Here, it is noted that the claimed subject matter only has priority that extends to the filing date of the instant application (12/5/03) and not to the filing date of the parent application (10/261,599)
